money belief?

Does this sound familiar?

- I want Freedom
- I want to invest

My personal testimony in this mindshift

These ideas aren't originally mine, but their impact on my mindset has been profound enough that I've made it my mission to share them!

Let me be candid: I've often harbored the belief that I'm never quite adequate. I've felt lacking, as if I had nothing to contribute. Financial struggles were a constant companion, painting a picture of perpetual scarcity. However, during a training session, everything changed when this perspective was presented to me.

I realized I am a daughter of the Most High, guided by a kingdom mindset. There are no impoverished princesses in this kingdom. I possess abundant resources to offer, and, yes, I, Amber, am enough.

This is the message I aim to convey as we embark on the Joy Beyond Freedom course: to assist you in reframing those negative thoughts and embracing the flow of abundance into your life.
